1 Introduction

Thank you for your interest in becoming a partner of CAG Consultants:

- As a CAG partner, you will become a core member of our organisation, working on a full or part-time basis and enjoying equal access to work opportunities with other partners.

To apply to become a CAG partner

Please follow the instructions within this pack. Within this application pack you will find:

- a brief description of the benefits of being a partner of CAG and a description of the partnership;
- application instructions; and
- a job description and person specification.

Please send completed partner applications by email to hq@cagconsult.co.uk. The closing date is Tuesday 23rd March (by the end of the day). We look forward to receiving your application.

For your information, if you are invited to interview, there is a staged process. Given the uncertainties of Covid 19, we will be undertaking initial interviews online, and then moving to a final face to face interview when this is possible. The proposed dates for these are:

- W/c 12th April – first online interviews by two partners
- W/C 26th April - interview with two other partners
- Final confirmatory face to face meeting with all partners, timing covid dependant.

Data protection

All applications and CVs will be kept on file for 1 year for the purpose of monitoring our recruitment processes. They will be used solely to determine the suitability of candidates to work with or for CAG Consultants. If you would like us to delete your CV or application from our records, please email hq@cagconsult.co.uk.

2 Working as a partner of CAG Consultants

About us

CAG Consultants Limited was founded in 1983 and has a proud and distinguished track record of delivery for a wide range of clients across the public, private and third sectors. In April 2012, the company changed its structure to become a Limited Liability Partnership (LLP). This has given us greater flexibility to adapt to changing market conditions and provide a wider range of services to clients.

CAG Consultants is a leading UK provider of evidence-based research, advice and engagement for environmental, economic and social sustainability. We currently work in the fields of sustainable development, climate change, energy, innovation, flood risk management, economic development, evaluation and community/stakeholder involvement. For further details see our website – www.cagconsultants.co.uk.

We are now seeking additional partners and/or associates to join our nine existing partners, working from home across the UK.

The benefits

The benefits include:

- The opportunity to work on projects ranging from national policy to local community issues.
- The freedom and flexibility of self-employment coupled with the benefits of being part of a supportive team.
- CAG Consultants is a registered co-operative with a flat structure – everyone is involved in and responsible for management and decision-making in the partnership.
- CAG was founded in 1983, providing an opportunity to be part of a partnership with a respected and well-established track record.
- CAG is an ethical company – giving an opportunity to work for a partnership which puts sustainability and equality of opportunity at the core of its work.
- CAG works in different sectors as described above – giving many opportunities to cross-fertilise and learn about and develop new areas of work.
- CAG is always seeking new market areas – partners are actively encouraged to develop new market areas around their own interests or specialisms.
- CAG gives people freedom over working hours – allowing work to be structured around other commitments. We employ an administrator (funded through shared core cost contributions) which reduces the administrative burden on each consultant.

- CAG partners are home-based – no need to move house and no more stressful commuter journeys (though much of our work is desk-based, we still of course need to travel to visit clients and to meet quarterly as a team).
- CAG has a UK-wide presence and we deliver work from Cornwall to the Scottish Islands, as well as Wales and Northern Island. Our partners' locations range from the North to the South West of England and we are very keen to find partners based in Scotland and Wales.
- CAG provides the opportunity to generate a substantial income – we aim to share opportunities for chargeable work equitably across the partnership, and between 10 and 12.5% of partner earnings are retained to cover core costs.
- CAG provides the services and procedures necessary to allow Partners and Associates to access work on large contracts, including tender tracking services; insurance; corporate policies, procedures and accreditations; access to a pool of trusted partner organisations and associates; and a corporate financial management function.

The challenges

Some of the challenges are:

- No salary is paid. Partners are paid for the chargeable work they deliver. Unless you have financial reserves, you are therefore likely to need to be able to generate chargeable work in the short term. Although we do our best to support new members to develop work and to allocate them work on existing projects, there is no guarantee that suitable existing work exists.
- Consultancy income is insecure, and partners are only paid in full for chargeable work once the client pays CAG. To address the cash flow issue, we have put in place a system of a minimum monthly drawings payment of £1000 to each partner, which is then deducted from their drawdowns for chargeable work.
- Working on your own can be challenging. While CAG partners usually work jointly on projects, and link with each other on a regular basis, you will need to be comfortable with working at home alone for significant periods of time. Some partners rent office or desk space at their own expense to help address this challenge.

What we require from partners

Through leading or contributing to tender responses and marketing activity, partners are expected to generate chargeable work for CAG.

Most projects are delivered in conjunction with other members of the CAG team, meaning that partners will often be working on a number of projects at any one time.

No earnings targets are set. However, all partners are required to make a contribution to core costs from a percentage (currently between 10% and 12.5%) of their earnings from chargeable work. In 2020-21, the minimum contribution to the core over the course of the year has been set at £3,244. We recommend that partners plan to earn at least £30,000 over the course of a year in order to cover their contribution although a number of partners have been generating earnings in excess of £60,000 per year over the past few years. Contributions to core costs are capped at a maximum level, currently set at £8,110 per year.

All work contracts will be held with the partnership, with partners invoicing the partnership for their element of the completed work once the client has paid CAG.

Partners are expected to channel all their work opportunities through the partnership unless they have clear agreement to undertake specific projects or types of project outside the partnership.

Partners are also expected to devote some of their time towards corporate management tasks, e.g. website, marketing, finance etc. We aim to share these tasks equitably across the partnership.

Further details are set out in the job description below.

Who we are, what we do, and why we do it

Our values and principles

Through rigorous research, constructive policy advice and expert facilitation, we seek to make the world a better place.

We are committed to the following values:

Independence. We are proud of our heritage, and the unique structure of our business, which allows us to maintain an ethical and apolitical stance.

Integrity. We are inclusive and transparent, and partner with organisations who share our beliefs and values.

Collaborative. We understand and meet our clients' needs, taking a collaborative and iterative approach to project development.

Progressive. We have a genuine desire to effect change, a commitment to real improvement via evidence- based research and thought leadership.

The following principles inform the work that we do:

- Promoting human rights and social justice.
- Promoting economic and social development.
- Protecting the environment.
- Protecting animal welfare.

Our practice

Co-operative principles are part of our DNA, and our name. We were founded in 1983 as the Co-operatives Advisory Group, although we have long since stopped providing advice to other co-ops.

We want to be a responsible business that meets the highest standards of ethics and professionalism. In all our operational activities:

- CAG partners will favour the option which has the lowest cost to the natural environment, has the highest ethical credentials, and supports the local economy and community.
- Wherever possible we will assess the wider impacts on the natural and human environment of our activities, materials, energy consumption, transport requirements and use of external services.

Our consultancy work

As a consultancy we apply our ethical policy within the briefs that we respond to. This is always done in line with professional guidelines relevant to that work and in the context of being guided by evidence.

3 Application instructions for potential partners

To ensure that your application can be entered into the shortlisting process, please follow the instructions outlined below.

All applicants must complete all four sections described below. Applications which are incomplete or do not follow the instructions will not be considered.

Other information sent beyond the four requirements will not be considered.

Please do not include your name, address or date of birth anywhere except on the cover sheet described below. Just put your initials on the top right-hand corner of each page of the application. This is to ensure that we give fair consideration to each application.

Please provide the following:

- A. A cover sheet with your name, address, date of birth and contact details (postal address, email address and telephone number). This will not be part of the information considered when your application goes through the shortlisting process.
- B. A short CV which is no longer than four sides of A4 and in no less than 10-point Arial or equivalent text and lists the following:
 - a) Educational History, with establishments, dates and qualifications gained
 - b) Employment History, with name and address of employer, dates, reason for leaving, job title and brief description of duties
 - c) A list of relevant reports, papers, articles, and other published material
 - d) Period of notice required with current employer
 - e) The names, phone numbers, email addresses and postal addresses of two referees. One must be your current employer, or, if self-employed, a recent client.
- C. Person Specification Statement. Please outline the core work areas in which you propose to deliver work for CAG and demonstrate how you meet the requirements of the person specification. Please use relevant examples from your own practice to illustrate your experience, skills and knowledge. Please organise the information using the criteria set out in the person specification. This part of the document must be no longer than six sides of A4 and in no less than 10-point Arial or equivalent text.
- D. Links to examples of written work which you have lead-authored or sole-authored and which are relevant to your core work areas.

- E. Please ensure your application is in a format which can be opened by Microsoft Word or Adobe Acrobat Reader and that the two main parts of the application (CV and person specification statement) are in one document, with the cover sheet and links to written work sent as separate attachments to the same email.

Returning the application

Please email your application to hq@cagconsult.co.uk by the end of the day on Tuesday March 23rd 2021.
